Marianne Skjeldal (b. 1979) is a dancer, choreographer, and performance artist. She holds an MFA degree from DOCH, Stockholm University of the Arts with specialisation in Choreography and Performance Practices, and a two-year degree from School of New Dance, now Høyskolen for Dansekunst – HFDK.no. Through various formats, Marianne is producing her own work at the intersection of choreography and performance through relational work, examining place, different forms of presence, listening and ways of being intimate, as well as methods for transformation and possible transcendence. She is also part of various collaborative work as a dancer, choreographer, performer, mentor, and curator. Her works are most often linked to a specific site, to nature, objects, and materials, combining movement with sound, text and voice where the relational approach to the audience is always addressed. Her research is rooted in a listening practice based on giving time - to be affected, sense, reflect, respond and by doing so allowing relations to unfold. This also includes relations to a more-than-human world.

Together with artist colleague Inger-Reidun Olsen, she runs the collaboration LATERNA. LATERNA received a 3-year funding May 2018 for the project CoSA- Concerning the Spiritual in Art (2018-2020), which due to Covid was extended throughout 2023. In the period from 2019-2021 LATERNA were associated artists at Black Box teater, Oslo, with several ongoing activities, and in June 2022, curated and hosted the 5-days festival Hidden Connections – Visible Ecologies at BBt. Besides creating her own work, Marianne makes a point of continuing to develop projects with other artists, both as a collaborator and performer. She is currently involved in collaborations with amongst others: Ingri Fiksdal, Landing, Robert Steijn, Liv Kristin Holmberg, Sally Dean, Elin Már Julia Adzuki and Nina Ossavy/CAN. She has presented work touring in Scandinavia, Finland, Germany, France, Spain, Belgium, Holland, Italy, Greece, Hungary, Croatia, Serbia, Russia, The United States, Chile, Brazil, Ethiopia, and the Middle East. In 2011 she was awarded Norwegian Government Grant for Emerging Artists and in 2018 a 3-year Government Grant for Artists (Statens Kunstnerstipend).
